London Air-Mail Letter

Women And The Noble Art: Sir Henry Dickens: Wife Of Paderewski: Five Foundation Stones: Another Cup Stays Abroad

(Special Air-Mail Service)

London, January 24.
AIR TRAVEL IN BRITAIN
Aircraft manufacturers are receiving orders for new machines in larger number than in any of the past few years, and there are other indications that there will be a marked increase in civil aviation in the course of a few months. Many of the regular services are to be developed, and one new achievement this year may be that air travel will be possible from Land's End to John o' Groats.

WOMEN AND THE NOBLE ART

In the South of London a school has been opened for the training of women in the "noble art" of boxing. It is not an attempt to inaugurate an era of professionalism in female prizefighting—which would undoubtedly be cried down in this country, and which the proprietrix coach of the school thinks will never arrive here—but one to equip amateurs with sufficient knowledge of defensive tactics to enable them to deal sharply with banbits and bag snatchers.

OPERATION ON BADEN-POWELL

Lord Baden-Powell, the Chief Scout, underwent a second operation at King Edward the Seventh's Hospital for Officers to-day.

Afterwards the doctors expressed themselves as satisfied with his condition.

The first operation took place early this month, and since then Lord Baden-Powell has been progressing favourably. It was announced at the beginning of the year that all his engagements for two months would be cancelled, although he was looking forward to going on the "Scouters" and "Guiders" cruise to the Mediterranean at Easter.

THE LORD CHANCELLOR WROTE TO HIMSELF

Lord Sankey, the Lord Chancellor, told this story at Birmingham.

"When I was appointed Lord Chancellor and went to the room of my new post, I saw a letter stating that I must resign my position as a judge of the King's Bench, and my resignation must be sent to the Lord Chancellor. So I wrote a letter to myself resigning my position as judge, and then wrote back to myself thanking myself for the great and valuable services I had rendered to the State, and wished myself many happy years as Lord Chancellor."

LORD HAWKE

Lord Hawke, Yorkshire's captain 1883-1910, is to undergo an operation for an internal complaint.

Lord Hawke is 73, and has been in ill-health for some time.

MONOCLE VEILS

The latest feminine fashion is for monocles, but as these cannot be allowed to interfere with the curve of the restricted eyebrows of the moment they must be made to suit the occasion. A hole is cut in a short veil opposite the right eye and edged heavily with black silk to heighten the illusion of a monocle proper.

WIFE OF M. PADEREWSKI

The loss of his wife will be a severe blow to M. Paderewski. He was devoted to her, and the marriage was an ideally happy one.

Paderewski was her second husband. She was first married to M. Gorski, a Polish violinist.

The Gorskis became intimate friends of Paderewski, whose invalid son by his first marriage spent much of his time with them.

FIVE FOUNDATION STONES

A building with two foundation stones is something out of the ordinary, but one with no fewer than five must be unique. This is the number that have been built into a church in the South of London, and none of them is just a commonplace stone. The building is the new St. Mildred's Church at Addiscombe, now nearing completion, and each of the stones has its history. The oldest was once a piece of the fifth century tomb of the patron saint; the second dates from the eleventh century and comes from Canterbury Cathedral; the third, cut in the fifteenth century, has been taken from a neighbouring place of worship; the fourth, from the mother church of the parish, which was erected in the thirteenth century; and the fifth, acting as a foundation stone for the second time, has been taken from a temporary St. Mildred's Church erected only a few years ago. Well founded in the past and present, there should be no fears for the future of this church.

ANOTHER CUP STAYS ABROAD

The Billiards Association and Control Council, all unaware of the devastating retort in store for them, invited Walter Lindrum, the professional billiard champion, to enter for this year's professional championship before February 26 or else to return the championship cup, which he now holds. Lindrum is reported to have been "very indignant" about the request. "Boxing and other sports champions defend their titles in their own country; that is what I intend to do." In other words, any Englishman who wants the cup must go to Australia and win it from Lindrum, since, according to his implication, it carries with it the world's championship.

The worst of it, from the association's point of view, is that the rules of the championship nowhere definitely specify that it is to be played in England or even that it is the English championship. It has always been assumed to be the English or British championship, since the game is played here under rules quite different from those of French or American billiards. But the championship regulations do not say so, and the association will have to do some hard thinking at their special meeting on Friday if they are to outmanoeuvre the recalcitrant holder of their cup. Otherwise the billiard championship cup will become another America's Cup for which expeditions have to be fitted out.

RECENT "TONG" DISTURBANCES

Chinese Riots in Montreal

Montreal, February 12.

A meeting called here by influential Chinese to discuss how the recent "Tong" disturbances can be avoided, ended in fighting in which one man was seriously injured and 10, slightly injured.

The Police declare that the meeting was backed with a disorderly element of Chinese.

Ninety people were detained for questioning.—Reuter.

FISHING BOATS RETURN

Piracy Story Discredited

Dalren, Feb. 12.

The strange story of a pirate attack on Dalren trawlers off Wei-hai-wei at midnight last Thursday has been somewhat discounted by the arrival of two of the missing trawlers safely to-day.

Only one ship has now failed to put in an appearance.

The request for assistance from Port Arthur has not met with a favourable reply. No destroyers have been despatched as was urged.

There were no casualties aboard the two trawlers which arrived this morning.

The police, after subjecting the crews to close questioning, express the opinion that the attackers were probably not pirate craft at all, but were Chinese coastal cutters which objected to the near-shore fishing activities of non-Chinese craft.—Reuter.

REICHSTAG FIRE PRISONERS

Three Bulgarians III In Prison

Berlin, February 10.

All three Bulgarian prisoners who, at the Reichstag trial, were ordered to be sent out of Germany, are suffering from mental and physical strain and their nerves are in a bad state, following their long imprisonment.

In addition, Dimitroff is suffering from eye trouble, and Popoff from lung trouble.—Reuter.

COLD SPELL IN NEW YORK

Indications It Is Ending

New York, February 12.

The spell of Arctic weather in New York, in which 40 fatalities are so far reported, seems to be ending.

The temperature has risen from two degrees below zero to 27 degrees above during the last 24 hours, but the cold has not abated elsewhere.

Heavy snowfalls occurred in Colorado and Wyoming.

A startling contrast in the weather in Florida is seen in the fact that while people were sunbathing in a temperature of 72 degrees at Miami, a heavy fall of snow occurred in north-west Florida.—Reuter.

In New York, the coldest weather for 64 years was experienced on Friday, when the temperature dropped to 14.5 degrees below zero.

At Walkerton, Ontario, a temperature of 56 degrees below zero was record.

A SEA MONSTER THIS TIME!

New York, February 12.

A sea monster, 70 feet long, with a head two feet wide is claimed to have been seen by the third and first officers of the A.S. Mauretania, in the Caribbean sea, on January 30, during a cruise in the West Indies.

The Captain of the "Mauretania" entertains no doubt that the officers sighted a sea serpent.—Reuter.

CZECHO-SLOVAKIA TO DEPRECIATE CURRENCY

Prague, February 11.

It is understood that the Czecho-Slovakian Government proposes to reduce the gold cover from the present 30 per cent. to 25 per cent., thus reducing the exchange value of the crown by about one-sixth.

A final decision is expected to-day.

The National Democrats, representing chiefly the financial and industrial circles, oppose the Government's proposals, and threaten to withdraw their representative, the Minister of Commerce, Dr. Josef Matousek, from the Cabinet.—Reuter.

A ROYAL PATIENT Operation In Nursing Home

The following official bulletin was issued yesterday from the London house of Prince and Princess Arthur of Connaught—
Princess Arthur of Connaught this morning underwent an abdominal operation in a London nursing home. The operation was successful and the condition of the Princess is satisfactory.

Harold Chapple, Russell Wilkinson, Archibald Marston, Princess Arthur of Connaught is a niece of the King. She is the Duchess of Fife in her own right, being the daughter of King Edward's eldest daughter, who was known as the Princess Royal until her death three years ago. News of Princess Arthur's illness came as a complete surprise to everyone with the exception of the Royal Family.

Princess Arthur is 42. Her marriage to Prince Arthur, the only son of the Duke of Connaught, took place in 1913. She is a qualified nurse, and has done ordinary ward duty at University College Hospital and has assisted at operations. She passed her nursing examinations as "Nurse Marjorie" and she received her training at St. Mary's Hospital, Paddington. The Princess has never been seriously ill, but in the summer of 1928 she spent several weeks in a nursing home for special treatment following an indisposition. In November, 1932, she was taken ill while attending a theatre, but she recovered from the indisposition in a few days. Prince and Princess Arthur have one son, the Earl of Macduff, who was born a few days after the outbreak of war.

News of the operation was telephoned to the King and Queen, who are at Sandringham, and to the Duke of Connaught, Princess Arthur's father-in-law, who is at Sidmouth. Prince Arthur was at the nursing home while the operation was carried out. The Princess was taken to the nursing home on Tuesday.

The doctors who signed the bulletin are Sir Russell Facey Wilkinson, who has been physician to Prince and Princess Arthur since 1918; Mr. Harold Chapple, F.R.C.S., senior obstetric surgeon and gynaecologist to Guy's Hospital; and Mr. Archibald Daniel Marston, honorary anaesthetist at Guy's Hospital.

LEAP IN DARK FROM PLANE Crowd Sees Human Shooting Star

(Special Air-Mail Service)

London, Jan. 24. Mr. F. George, an amateur parachutist, made a spectacular leap in the dark from a height of 2,000ft over Hanworth Aerodrome, Middlesex, last night.

He had miniature searchlights attached to his waist and wrists, and a crowd that collected to watch saw him streak through the darkness like a shooting star. He landed safely.

The object of the descent was to test a new device intended to make parachute descents at night safe. The lights attached to the parachutist were designed to illuminate the ground and enable him to make a safe landing.

Only two previous parachute jumps at night have been made in England. It was Mr. George's first night "drop."

At the moment of leaving the aeroplane the young parachutist pressed a switch, and instantly he was illuminated by a brilliant light, which was visible for miles around. The light gleamed on the fuselage of the aeroplane, and for a fraction of a second the pilot was almost blinded.

Before pulling the rip-cord which opened the parachute, the daring experimenter fell for some distance. Then the watchers below saw the movement of the light become gradually slower. Carried by the wind, the parachutist drifted to one end of the aerodrome. The apparatus attached to his flying suit floodlit the ground and enabled him to make a perfect landing.

This was the first time that the apparatus had been tested. At the present stage it is admitted to be somewhat cumbersome and heavy, but the descent demonstrated the advantages of the apparatus not only to enable the parachutist to see where he is falling, but also for signalling to persons on the ground. Anyone living within a radius of many miles would be able to see where the parachutist was dropping, and would be able to go and render assistance if it was required.

FOURTH LARGEST DIAMOND

Sold For £63,000

(Special Air-Mail Service)

London, Jan. 24. It is understood that the 730-carat diamond, fourth largest in the world, which has been discovered at Ekandfontein, was sold to-day to Sir Ernest Oppenheimer for £63,000. The diamond in its rough state was valued at £100,000.

Jacobus Jonker, the owner (Bewer says is now returning to farming on a larger scale. He has announced his intention to purchase a top hat and frock coat.

His native boy, Johannes, who found the diamond, will be installing on the farm as a retainer with liberty to do whatever he pleases. Sir Ernest Oppenheimer is chairman of several South African diamond-mining companies. He lives at Johannesburg.

The Jonker diamond, a perfect flawless gem, was one of two found recently at Ekandfontein, 20 miles north of Pretoria. The other stone weighed 400 carats.

The theory was at first advanced that the stones might be part of the famous Cullinan diamond, the lar-

WATER UNDER THE EARTH

Interesting Discovery Reported

The reported discovery of an other inland sea of fresh water under the surface of the earth, this time in North Australia, holds splendid promise for Empire development.

The problem of the sparsely populated North would be solved if another large artesian water area could be found. It is because of these stupendous areas of fresh water under the surface of the soil that most maps of Australia are now out of date.

Millions of acres which appear on the maps as "desert" are today fertile areas, producing rich crops or carrying millions of sheep and cattle.

On a map of Queensland I note, for instance, that the town of Bouldin is placed in the "desert" area.

Yet a friend tells me he has seen citrus fruits as large as small melons growing on thousands of trees in the main streets of that town.

OLD MASTERS FOR SALE

A magnificent pictorial pageant of colour and character is to be staged in May at Christie's sale-rooms. The occasion will be the disposal of a large assemblage of pictures by old masters and leading contemporary artists, drawings, miniatures, period furniture, porcelain, and rare objects of applied art that belonged to the late Mr. Leopold Hirsch, a noted London collector. Among the oils are Gainsborough's, Holbein's, three Raeburns, a Hoppner, Morlands, a Lawrence, a Rembrandt, three Reynolds, and two Romney's. One of the Gainsboroughs, "Madame Francine le Brun," a Royal Academy exhibit in 1780, was sold for over £3000 forty years ago. From the same collection, comes a choice sixteenth century panel of Brussels tapestry, woven in coloured and gold threads, with "The Repose in Egypt." This was one of the attractions at the Loan Exhibition of Flemish and Belgian Art in 1927.

best known diamond, but it is unsupported. Two of the largest stones cut from the Cullinan diamond are in the British crown jewels.

WOMEN IN WHITEHALL

Still Regarded With Suspicion

Women are still regarded with some suspicion in Whitehall. But they enjoy freedom as they never had in the old days.

Sir Francis Floud, in a speech to the Ministry of Labour staff, recalled the advent of the first woman typist in the Board of Agriculture. She was given a dungeon-like room in the basement. The Chief Clerk sent round an order that no one over the age of 15 must go inside her room.

That solitary little typist in her dungeon has now grown to nearly 80,000 women civil servants.

The Post Office was the pioneer in the employment of women. But to this day, the sexes are kept apart during official hours. They are not even allowed to walk down the same corridors. When, for lack of accommodation, women are compelled to work in a room with men they are partitioned off behind a high barrier.

Policy to be Abolished
One of the great changes to be introduced this year to which the Government and the Treasury have agreed is the abolition of this policy of segregation.

For years women have advocated this change, because of their new status in the Civil Service. They have forced every door in Whitehall. Now it is the turn of the partitions to be swept away.

The only sex differentiation that will now be left in Whitehall will be the lower rates of pay which women still receive.

AIR MAIL TO SINGAPORE

A further link towards the establishing of a regular air-mail service between this country and Australia was forged to-day with the arrival at Croydon of the first all-British air mail from Singapore the half-way port on the route to the Dominion. The intention is that Singapore will be the stopping-place for Imperial Airways liners flying from this country, and that from there the service, the full operation of which it is hoped will not now be long delayed, will be in the charge of the Australian Government, whose air port will probably be Sydney. In future the British part of the service will be run once a week, leaving London every Saturday, and Singapore every Sunday. The flight occupies 10 days as against the 23 taken by surface transport.

COLD-STARTING IN WINTER

Using The Right Grade Of Oil

Despite the various improvements and innovations introduced of late years with the object of overcoming the difficulty of starting car engines from cold in winter, it cannot be said that all motorists are even now immune from trouble in this respect. Nevertheless, while the modern engine is not inherently a good cold-starter in winter, no ordinary engine of recent design can be termed an inherently bad starter.

It follows, therefore, that a reasonably quick and certain start from cold when the atmospheric temperature is low is possible of attainment, so long as the driver does what is needed to encourage that desirability. True, no engine will start readily from cold, or under any conditions, if there is anything amiss with the valves, carburation, ignition, piston rings and cylinder-bore; but, assuming these items and other engine details are in fair order, there is no reason why starting difficulty, if it be experienced, should not be overcome.

Grade of Engine Oil

First, it must be realised that an essential to quick and certain starting from cold is that the starting motor shall be capable of turning the engine round at a fair speed; in the majority of cases its inability to do so is the prime cause—often the only cause—of starting difficulty. The reason is that when the engine is cold the oil on the cylinder and piston walls, and in all of the many bearings, is "gummy" owing to its low temperature. Therefore, during the winter months an engine oil that sets up the least possible resistance on account of its gumminess should be used.

Most brands of oil are available in three grades—i.e., heavy, medium, and light. As a rule a change over in the autumn from the heavy "summer" grade to the medium will give moderately quick starting on cold days. But not in all cases. So it may be necessary or, at all events, desirable to use the light grade, whatever grade of oil be used, however, it must be an oil of really good quality, and the motorist is therefore advised to select a brand of good repute. A thin oil of poor quality may cause greater gumminess in a cold engine than a medium oil of good quality. A good oil of the light grade is just as effective as a lubricant under winter motoring conditions as the corresponding heavy oil in consumption for a given mileage is prone to be greater; but the small extra cost is a low price to pay for quick starting from cold.

A Variety of Hints

If a change over to a light oil (after draining off all of the old in the sump) does not effect a complete cure of the starting trouble, the following plans should be tried. Keep the clutch pedal depressed during the starting process and until the engine is running freely under its own power; this will remove the need for the starter to churn the thick and cold oil in the gear-box. Make sure that the starting mixture control is set to the point of maximum richness, or where a strangled is fitted, that the valve can be and is fully closed, or, again, in the case of a "self-start" carburettor, note whether the control moves the starting carburettor lever to the full extent of its range of movement.

Should the engine then fail to respond readily to the starter, try advancing the ignition a shade, but not more than a third towards full advance, and slightly opening the slow-running adjustment or hand throttle. This latter is an important point in many cases, for often the engine will not start from cold with the setting that is used for normal slow-running when it is hot. When the engine does eventually start, note the minimum setting at which it will run steadily, and adopt that setting for starting from cold next time.

It should not be necessary to flood a modern carburettor or to drain the radiator and fill it up with hot water. Either of these plans may be effective when all others fail; but if that be so, there is something wrong somewhere and the need for expert attention is indicated.

MOTOR SUPPLEMENT

CLUTCHLESS GEAR CHANGING

Releasing Of Accelerator

With the accelerator released gear-changing is facilitated, because while free-wheeling takes place there is no power passing through—being transmitted by the gear-wheels then in engagement. These gears can therefore be moved without need for disengaging the clutch to relieve them of load.

Similarly, there is no load on the gear wheels of the higher or lower speed that is to be brought into use by changing gear, and there will be no load on those gears until the accelerator is subsequently depressed. For that reason the higher or lower speed can be engaged silently and quickly, again without use of the clutch pedal. "Clutchless" gear-changing is thus effected.

As used for gear-changing, the free-wheel may be considered as a small friction clutch that "overruns" or disengages automatically when the accelerator is released. It makes gear-changing remarkably easy, because the part attached to the gearshaft has practically no inertia of its own and does not therefore, like the ordinary friction clutch when the pedal is depressed, object to being accelerated or decelerated suddenly when quiet gear changes demand instant variation of the rotational speeds of the gear wheels in the gear-box.

It is the inertia of the ordinary friction clutch that necessitates double-declutching to obtain a quiet change into a lower gear when no free-wheel is fitted, or when a free-wheel is locked out of use. Hence it is that, even on a car fitted with a free-wheel, gear-changing is no easier than usual unless the free-wheel is operative; the control must be in the "free" position, just as a lamp switch must be "on" if light is required.

Don't Race Engine

Now let's have another try. Close the strangle, use the starter, and tickle the accelerator, and then switch on the ignition while the starter is busy.

Seldom does the power unit fail to respond to such kind, if troublesome, treatment, but the clutch pedal must be kept out until the unit is firing regularly and developing some power. If it be let on almost immediately firing commences, the drag of the thick oil in the gear-box will certainly cause it to stop.

Do not allow your excitement (or pleasure) at the fact that the thing is now going to tempt you to open the throttle wide, or you will be in trouble once more. Above all, do not be tempted to race the engine to heat it up—allow time for the oil to thin down and splash itself all over the internal surfaces before increasing the revolutions.

On the other hand, do not idle it too slowly or the oil will not be thrown up or the surfaces lubricated at all. The proper engine speed for warming is about 1000 revolutions a minute. You can judge such a speed by the noise which the engine would make if it were driving the car at about 20 miles an hour on the road.

Importance of Correct Oil

Far too few owners take the trouble to change to a winter grade of oil when the cooler weather sets in. If they did so they would find that the starter would turn the engine almost twice as fast as when the thicker grade, used for summer running, is used. That has been proved by scientific tests, and applies to all brands of oil.

Still on the subject of lubrication, let me suggest that the whole chassis would benefit by a change from grease to gear oil in the many bearings.

If the road springs are a bit stiff or rusty now is the time to clean them out and re-lubricate. I agree that this is a messy business, but it is well worth doing, as the difference in the suspension is striking.

The practice of covering the road springs with leather gaiters has almost disappeared on the popular cars, which is not to the benefit of the owner. Flexing metal leaves do succeed in drawing in road grit, and then the trouble starts.

Inserting the Grease

To clean and lubricate road springs properly they should be removed from the chassis, but this is not always necessary. The alternative is to jack-up the chassis until the springs are

MANY CHANGES IN CAR OF FUTURE SEEN BY EXPERTS

Transportation Units Leave Room For Developments

From announcements proceeding from the offices of the Society of Automotive Engineers, it is evident that the automotive engineers are doing their share to advance business. In the words of a past-president of the society, C. F. Kettering, head of the research department of the General Motors Corporation, "We have got to be thinking of more ways to do things, more different things to do. We are in the kindergarten as far as knowing that elementary thing about our business—what makes the automobile go? Furthermore, if we have one problem of engineering to-day it is to step up to bat with the recognition that the world is not finished. The whole progress of the world depends on our ability to change and follow the demands and customs of the people."

"Sometimes the need exists long before the public knows it, or even the engineer suspects it, but when a thing like that does come on the market, you see a tremendous growth of a particular industry in a short time. The automobile was like that, so was the electric refrigerator. It's up to us as engineers to be the prophets."

Thought Trends Are Shown

Streamlined bodies, automobile control, simplification of transmission, independently suspended wheels, and the like, show trends in thought which are sure to greatly alter the form and performance of motor cars, is the belief expressed. In speaking before the metropolitan section of the Society of Automotive Engineers recently, E. S. Hild said:

"Driving an automobile is easy enough when you know how, but the present system of automobile control is unnecessarily complex and difficult to learn. It is remarkable chiefly in the degree of refinement which has been attained in making a crude and indirect system practical in the hands of the public. It has never been a logical system, however, because it was not worked out from a functional basis. Instead of providing a system for controlling the automobile, means were provided for handling the engine, clutch and transmission."

"Without reference to these component parts, what would be a rational system of controlling the automobile? What would be the simplest and easiest automobile control system, one so obviously right and final that if it were possible, mechanically and economically, it would inevitably be adopted as the standard automobile control system? These functions are easily outlined. It is necessary to steer, to predetermine whether the car will go forward or backward, and to control the speed. Directional control on a vertical plane is taken care of by the highway department. In the horizontal plane the steering wheel is an eminently satisfactory type of control device. It has a simple function, thought it works both ways. Turn it a little, the car turns a little. Turn it much, the car turns much."

Plan For Velocity Control

"Control of the velocity may be managed by single lever, producing forward drive at one extreme of its movement and reverse at the other, with a disconnected or neutral point midway between."

"The control of the magnitude of the velocity is where the rub comes in. The present methods of controlling acceleration comprising usually not only the accelerator and hand throttle, but the clutch pedal and gear-shift lever with free wheeling and clutch controls thrown in for good measure, is complex."

"That intelligent thinking is being done by many of the designers is evidenced by changes in the forthcoming models. It is a curious fact that the public lags behind in the selection of the newest and best things. It took four years, for example, to convince the buying public that a side-door entrance was better than a rear, tonneau. Four doors, too, were difficult to introduce. Many objections will be raised against the elimination of the complicated instrument board and the multiplicity of levers. Many people seem to like complexity for its very self, but simplification and style in the design of the motor car is coming sure."

FORD TRUCK

A Good Performance

People quite frequently read of spectacular trips made across the United States by motor cars, but it is something new for a truck carrying a two-ton load to undertake a trip of this kind.

Smashing all previous speed records for motor trucks on a transcontinental trip, a Ford V-8 truck carrying a full two-ton load of merchandise sped into Los Angeles one night after crossing the continent in 71 hours, 13 minutes and 30 seconds elapsed time. The run was made under the official observance of Glenn Walde for the Keystone Automobile Club, who accompanied the truck.

The truck out-distanced by four hours the fastest regular passenger train service between Atlantic City and Los Angeles. Mayor Shaw of Los Angeles, together with city and state officials and representatives of automobiles associations received the crew of four drivers who made the run in a typical California civic ceremony. The drivers presented letters of greeting from Mayor Harry Bachrach of Atlantic City and Major J. Hampton Moore of Philadelphia.

The Transcontinental Freighters was welcomed at the Los Angeles city limits with all the spectacular enthusiasm of a Hollywood opening night. Nearly 3,000 people were on hand to greet the transcontinental drivers to California in a blaze of floodlights. Following the termination of the run the truck was checked officially on the Southern California Automobile Club 13 mile check run and the speedometer found accurate to two-tenths of a mile for the thirteen miles.

In making the 2,945 mile run the Ford freighter clocked an average of 41.3 miles per hour, which resulted, according to Ford officials, from safe driving all the way under police escort and not by dangerous bursts of speed.

The transcontinental run required 322 gallons of gasoline and five quarts of oil, the final quart not being used. Only one pint of water was added to the radiator during the entire trip.

At the ceremony at the City Hall, Mayor Shaw welcomed the four drivers L. C. Houck, Jack Burns, Harold Peterson and Lester Moore to California. The four drove the freighter in relays. With the Mayor were the president of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, representatives of the Southern California Automobile Club and other prominent officials. According to the drivers the truck came through the record run in excellent shape, despite hard driving conditions all the way. The truck encountered snow and ice the first night out, ran through desert, sand and dust two Ozarks the second night and plowed through desert, sand and dust two feet deep for more than 12 hours.

CAR TRANSMISSION EXPLAINED

The Synchronesh Gear-Box

Understanding in regard to the way in which gear changing is facilitated by the synchronesh gear-box is encouraged by prior knowledge of what the word "synchronesh" implies. Let it be said, therefore, that it infers a device whereby the rotational speeds of two gear wheels (or the halves of a dog clutch) are synchronised, before the gears make contact to be slid into mesh.

In changing gear into a lower speed with an ordinary sliding gear-box the only way in which the gear wheel speeds can be synchronised is to use the double-declutch method of changing. The effect of this plan is to accelerate the gear wheel that is rotating at a relatively low speed to bring its speed of rotation to that of the faster running gear wheel with which it is to be meshed.

This faster running gear wheel is, as it were, attached to the propeller shaft, and cannot therefore be decelerated to gain synchronised gear speeds, except by reducing the speed of the car—which is out of the question from this viewpoint. When a change into a higher gear is made with an ordinary gear-box, the faster running gear wheel is then the one coupled to the clutch shaft, and synchronised gear speeds can be secured merely by pausing a moment as the gear lever is being moved through its neutral position (with the clutch pedal depressed), or moving the gear lever slowly from the lower to the higher gear position.

In the synchronesh gear-box both the acceleration of the slower-running gear wheel during a change down and the deceleration of the faster gear wheel in a change up are brought about by small friction clutches. The two units of each friction clutch—the cone and the cup—are, in effect, but not actually, attached to the gear wheels to be meshed. As and when the gear lever is moved beyond neutral in making a gear change, the cup and the cone make contact before the gear wheels meet, and the friction between them quickly causes them to rotate at the same speed. When that has happened the gears can be slid into mesh instantly and silently, because they also are then synchronised as to speed of rotation.

No Appreciable Wear

Thus there is no need for double-declutching, the only point to be observed with some designs is that the driver must not move the gear lever quickly. A firm pressure upon the lever is necessary to press the cup and cone into contact just after the neutral position is passed. A quick movement gives the synchronising clutch no time to take effect, and a noisy gear change will result.

As they do not transmit power, the synchronising clutches are not subject to wear while the various gears are in use; the only wear, which is very slight, occurs while the gear speeds are being synchronised.

Actually, as stated, the cup and cone are not attached to the gear wheels; the latter are always in mesh, but are in use unless the halves of a dog clutch are engaged. Half of this dog clutch is integral with one gear wheel, while the other half is slidably mounted on the shaft on which that gear wheel is fitted; the cup and cone are attached to the dog clutch halves; so that really the synchronesh device takes effect upon the dog clutch speeds. But this fact need not be considered; understanding is better secured by taking note only of the paragraphs that precede this one.

It is important to realise, however, that with only two exceptions (Standard and Alvis) no cars have a gear-box with synchronesh clutches affecting more than two speeds—viz., third and top, so that only for the changes into and between these two speed is any assistance afforded. On Standard cars the second speed also has synchronesh clutches, while the Alvis gear-box of this type is "all synchronesh."

THE NEW DOLLAR POLICY

Effect On Foreign Exchanges

(Special Air Mail Service.)

London, January 24.

The foreign exchange market was very unsettled yesterday by reports from New York that a fresh development of monetary policy was contemplated by President Roosevelt, and as these reports pointed to a further depreciation of the dollar the demand for gold currencies against sales of paper currencies became rather marked. The Paris-London exchange improved from 82 25-32 to 81 1/2, and the other gold exchanges moved in sympathy. The terms of President Roosevelt's message to Congress were not known until after business hours in London, but they clearly show that the earlier reports were well founded. In the spring Congress gave power to the President to reduce the gold value of the dollar by as much as 50 per cent. He now proposes that Congress shall agree to prevent the dollar from rising above 60 per cent. of its old value. If Congress accepts the President's recommendation, as no doubt it will, there will be an upper and a lower limit between which the gold value of the dollar may fluctuate. If he proceeds with his scheme—regarded by many business men as impracticable—a commodity dollar, presumably it will only be steady in commodity and debt paying power between the limits of a 50c. to 60c. gold dollar. The President explains that he is taking his present step "in conformity with the progress we are now making in restoring a fairer price level, and with our purpose of arriving eventually at a less variable purchasing power for the dollar." If the present action represents the first step towards stabilization of dollar in the world sense—and it was so interpreted by Wall Street which was active and strong yesterday—it will seem strange that the President should have refused to take the step in July, when the America price level was appreciably higher than it is now.

International Reactions

Taken by itself the fixing of an upper limit for the gold value of the dollar would have no more external significance than the fixing of the lower limit, but the President's statement that he proposes to establish an Exchange Fund of $2,000,000,000 (2,000,000,000) to be used for the purchase and sale of gold invests his action with considerable international importance. Only one change has been made since December 1 in the American domestic price of gold, which has remained for some weeks at $34. 06 an ounce. It has been left unchanged at this figure because it was ineffective in the world market, for instance, the equivalent sterling value of the dollar at that price on Saturday would have been about $5.34 instead of $5.09. The fact that to-day the American price for gold is to be raised to $34. 45 an ounce (against a par price of $20.67) indicates that the American Government intends to make the 60 per cent. gold dollar effective in the exchange market if possible. The New York-Paris rate on Saturday was 15.26, to the dollar, and this would have to fall to about 15.26, for the dollar to be successfully depreciated to 60 per cent. If the pound sterling kept pace with the depreciation of the dollar the Paris-London exchange would fall from its present figure of 81 1/2 to about 78.20, with, of course, a corresponding rise in the sterling price of gold. Until the Paris-New York exchange falls to about 15.26—it fell yesterday to 15.27—America should be able to take gold from France, but her ability to do so will depend upon various factors, including the readiness of buyers to take dollars. Up to the present, the difficulty has not been to sell, but to prevent people from buying dollars, owing apparently to the unduly low price level in the U. S. A.—for prices there have not risen sufficiently to offset the fall in the exchange value of the dollar—and the inducement to foreign debtors to repay their dollar debts cheaply while they can. Hence the ineffectiveness of the American domestic gold price.

Times' Precious

Unemployed were being addressed by a speaker, who was not getting the best of order from the crowd. So, trying to humour them, he cracked a joke which was very stale as well as not very witty. "But I raised one or two chuckles, and when these had died down the little fellow in the front row remarked sarcastically: 'Say, governor, I'll laugh at that when I've got more time.'"

Advice for Chelsea

Chelsea, in a match at Stamford Bridge a few seasons ago, were being completely overrun by a northern team. At half-time Chelsea were four goals down, and as the rather dejected-looking players trooped off the field for the interval a shrill, cockney voice yelled: "For heaven's sake 'ave a good lunch, Chelsea!"

NO CURRENCY WAR WITH U.S.A.

Prospect of Return to Gold

(Special Air-Mail Service.)

London, January 24.

The result of President Roosevelt's decision to transfer the ownership of all American monetary gold to the United States Treasury has so far been disappointing, said Mr. R. J. Barrett, managing editor of the "Financial Times" in a broadcast through the B.B.C. to America on Saturday night. He added, however, that the whole situation might be changed if the United States Government gave effect to its expressed intention to borrow and spend $10,000,000.

"I do not think there is the slightest possibility of a currency war," said Mr. Barrett. "The fact that both Great Britain and the United States are now on a kind of managed currency means, I think, the certainty of an ultimate return to the Gold Standard. There is enough gold in the world to support currency and credit sufficient to restore the world to prosperity."

"My fear is that President Roosevelt and his advisers will not be able to control the tremendous forces they are setting in motion. The supreme test will be reached when the final halt is called to the upward movement of prices and the taxpayer comes to bear the burden of vast Government borrowing. If President Roosevelt can keep wages, prices and the external value of the dollar in equilibrium, and emerge all square, he will have achieved the greatest place of reformation in economic history."

"COLLEGE HUMOUR"

Final Showings
To-day

The season's outstanding movie musical—a melodic, uproarious, comedy of college life as the old co-eds remember it, featuring a brilliant all-star cast—this is "College Humor," latest hit from the Paramount studios, which has its final showings to-day at the Queen's Theatre.

Bing Crosby, Richard Arlen, Mary Carlisle, Jack Oakie, George Burns and Grace Allen, Coach Howard Jones of the University of Southern California, Lona Andre and Mary Kornman have the featured roles in the film. The Ox-Road Co-eds, a group of chorines who make the late Florenz Ziegfeld's famous ensembles look pale, prance in and out of the action.

"College Humor" is the average youth's dream of what college ought to be—a place where pecking and football are, the two principal courses of study, where the professors croak to their classes, where all the male students are handsome and all the females beautiful.

Its plot has to do with the adventures of Crosby, a young instructor; of Arlen, a football star who's not at all sure he's willing to die for good old Whoozis; of Oakie, a big fraternity man who modestly admits he's a fine athlete and an equally fine student; and of the Misses Carlisle, Andre and Kornman, sorority girls who learn in college principally that the woman pays and pays and pays.

"Learn to Croon," "Moon-struck," and "The Old Ox-Road" are three of the musical numbers from "College Humor," which have already proved smash hits. They were written by Sam Coslow, and Arthur Johnston. Wesley Ruggles directed the production.

"MEET THE BARON"

Fun And Laughter At Queen's Theatre

"Meet the Baron," hilarious mixture of comedy, lifting musical numbers, and spectacular colour, serves to bring to the screen Jack Pearl, famous "Baron Munchausen" of radio, who, with Jimmy Durante goes through a series of hectic adventures in a girls' college in the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer laugh-classic showing from tomorrow at the Queen's Theatre.

The new picture boasts the most remarkable all-comedian cast ever assembled. Pearl, internationally famous, Jimmy Durante, of "what! No Beer?" and other hits of the screen, Zasu Pitts, famous comedienne, Ted Healy and his hilarious stooges, Edna May Oliver of "Ladies of the Jury" fame, Ben Bard, Henry Kolker, William B. Davidson have featured roles in the comedy which was directed by Walter Lang who filmed the successful "Warrior's Husband."

In addition there is a vivid ballet of "collegiate cuties" playing college girls and staging the sensational "Dance of the Show Bath" in the production.

The story opens with Pearl as Julius, valet of the real Baron Munchausen, and Durante as his other servant. When the real Laurel and Hardy, conceded to be the most popular comedians on the American screen, make their latest appearance in a feature-length comedy in "Fra Diavolo," a story of a pair of rollicking bandits, based on Aubert's famous comic opera.

The picture is reported to be the most ambitious yet undertaken by the noted laugh pair of "Pardon Us" and "Back Up Your Troubles." Its cast including such outstanding names as Dennis King, the noted singer and stage star, and Thelma Todd, who has contributed to the humour of a long list of screen productions.

The story of the two friends who turn bandits in retaliation for being robbed of their life savings just when they meant to retire is reported to be permeated with humour from its very opening reel to finish. For instance, Hardy is captured by a bandit gang and is sentenced to be hanged. Laurel is given the hangman's assignment.

Laurel and Hardy flirt with a couple of milkmaids. Laurel waves a red handkerchief. A bull gets the waving invitation and charges. During a seemingly dull moment, Laurel becomes restless. He begins fumbling with his hands. He originates what is called the "kneesy, eary, nosey" game, and soon the entire household, including the soldiers, are fumbling all over themselves in order to master the simple process of mingling knees, ears and nose together.

And then they are captured by the soldiers who, also have the bandit chief under control. They are sentenced to be shot. The future looks grim. No hope in sight. Not a friend among a thousand people.

How they come through these complications and how they help effect a reconciliation between the young lovers, in addition to numerous other ticklish moments, serve to make "Fra Diavolo" one of the funniest of the Laurel and Hardy laugh epics.

"THIS DAY AND AGE"

At The Alhambra

The first great spectacle of modern times, so termed by Cecil B. DeMille, its director, himself the master of spectacle, comes on to-day to the Alhambra Theatre. It is titled "This Day and Age," the story of the struggle of the youth of an average community to out the town's subversive influences, such as racketeers and gangsters, after all efforts of the good community have failed.

To imbue his story with the fire of youth, DeMille has brought together a cast of the more expert young players of Hollywood including Richard Cromwell, Eddie Nugent, Ben Alexander, and Judith Allen, one of his own discoveries. Filling the roles of the adult members of the cast are Charles Bickford, Harry Green, Fuzzy Knight, Bradley Page and George Barler.

The story reaches a masterful climax when youth of the town, five thousand strong, kidnap the town's leading racketeer, drag him off to an old abandoned quarry and there hold a "Kangaroo" court, using the racketeer's own methods to secure a signed confession. Then, with the racketeer riding a rail, the mob marches back to town, breaks into the home of the judge who originally had acquitted their captive of a murder charge, and force the jurist to witness the signed confession.

ANY middle-aged man will tell you how swiftly the years pass after forty. All too soon middle years have gone the way of youthful ones—and with them middle age's opportunities. Old age approaches. Too late then to start plans for an income for declining years—those years when earning power is greatly reduced, or even gone.

A Manufacturers Life Endowment Policy providing a secure income at age 55 or 60 or later, is within the means of the young man of even moderate income.

ECHOES OF 1860

7.—The Gaol Governor And The Chaplain

We understand that through the mediation of the Colonial Chaplain, Mr. Scott is retained in the Governorship of the Gaol. We suppose as the Chaplain's duty is the care of souls, he fancies that sufferings whilst in the flesh will go in mitigation of punishment hereafter. On such points of theology we of course are unable to argue with him. We would however, respectfully suggest in this case that a form of exhortation should be drawn up, called "prayer before flogging," the burden of which should be that the corporal and transient chastisement about to be inflicted might not be altogether thrown away. Then upon the gaol Governor singing out Amen, the flogging should commence. This prayer should be rendered in pidgin English so that the interpreter might communicate it to the sufferer.

It never struck us before, but it does now that perhaps the Chaplain employs the Gaol Governor in his measures of converting the heathen, and that these acts of cruelty which appear to us so incomprehensible, are simply the outpouring of benevolence and Christianity. Some people may think the system borders on Catholicism, but such must be arrant bigots—others might suppose that it partakes of barbarism (as the Colonial Surgeon did) but these are scurrilous humanity mongers.

There is something beyond our fathom in the whole affair. We understand towards Victor Emmanuel. The causes of difference are however by no means the same. The Pope's anathema arises from the threatened loss of temporal power. The Chaplain's ire is caused by the Doctor's remonstrances at neglect of duty in his attendance at the civil hospital. This foul aspersion the Chaplain indignantly rebuts by throwing the blame of gaol cruelty on the Doctor, who gave such evidence before the Coroner on that subject, as to fairly entitle him to excommunication. Certainly we think the Doctor has the best of the argument, for whilst the spiritual welfare of his patients are under the official charge of the Chaplain, he has a right, for the good of their health to see, that their souls are attended to: but we cannot understand how the doctor can be made responsible for the manifold Chaplain's flock, entirely unknown to the Doctor.

If we could but get the masks of the Chaplain and the Gaol Governor well taken in granite or camphor wood, and placed as the emblems of truth and righteousness on each side of one of the Cathedral doors, we think that both as architectural ornaments and well-merited tributes they might prove ornamental with an ecclesiastical appearance.

Around the Courts

CHINESE NEW YEAR TIME

Pickpockets Active

That pickpockets are more active at this time of the year was indicated in a case which came before Mr. Balfour at Central Magistrate yesterday when two Chinese were charged with loitering about Connaught Road with intent to commit a felony.

Mr. P. H. Sin appeared for the first defendant and pleaded not guilty.

Evidence was given by Chinese detectives to show that the defendants were seen boarding and alighting from trams near the Shamshui Ferry Wharf. One attempt to pick a pocket was observed, but it was an unsuccessful attempt.

Mr. Sin submitted that uncorroborated evidence was not sufficient in such cases. It was shown by the Police, however, that both men had previous convictions.

His Worship convicted and passed sentences of eight weeks' hard labour and one year's police surveillance on the first defendant and two months' hard labour on the second defendant.

CHASE BANK TO PAY

Judgment for Canton Official

Mr. Justice Wood yesterday gave judgment for the plaintiff in the action brought by Tam Foo, a Canton Government Official against the Chase Bank for payment of $14,800 made as a deposit with the Equitable Eastern Banking Corporation in 1928.

Mr. H. G. Sheldon, counsel for the Bank said he wished to apply for a stay of execution for four months pending communication with his client's principals in New York on the question of appeal. The Bank were quite anxious to conform with the judgment but wished to pay the money into court.

Mr. Jenkin opposed the application on the grounds that the plaintiff's status and character had not been impugned; that the defendants could not hope to succeed on an appeal concerning the principal sum of $14,800; and that by the terms of letters written by defendants they had indicated that they would be prepared to accept the judgment of the Supreme Court. Alternatively he submitted that if the stay were granted, it should apply only to the interest and not to the principal which should be paid to his client.

His Lordship granted the stay on interest only.

NAVAL MAN IN TROUBLE

Alleged Incident At Wanchai

Two stokers from H.M.S. Phoenix, Joseph Self and John Dawton were charged yesterday before Mr. Hamilton with resisting an Indian constable in the execution of his duty. The case was adjourned until to-day.

Ojager Singh said he was on duty in Queen's Road about 1 a.m. when he heard a police whistle being blown in Anton Street. He ran there and saw the first defendant, holding a Chinese lady by her arm, while second defendant was kissing her. On his trying to separate them, the second defendant struck him to the ground with his fist, and then both defendants began to beat him.

Chan Kam, a kept woman, said she was on her way to the bazaar when the second defendant came up to her and struck her. He then seized her neck, and bit her cheek. She blew her police whistle, and the constable came up. The defendants resisted arrest. The first defendant did not assault her, nor did he assault the constable. He did not even assist the second defendant in striking the constable.

SERIOUS CHARGE AGAINST SOLDIER

Alleged Theft Of Letters

The case against Sergeant F. W. E. Pratt of the H.K.S.R.A. on charges of obtaining letters by false pretences and delaying the delivery of several postal packages, was continued before Mr. Wynne-Jones at Kowloon Magistrate yesterday.

Mr. J. A. Fraser, assistant Attorney General, prosecuted and Mr. D. L. Strellett appeared for the defence. After Captain E. M. Bolt, the adjutant of the Brigade, had been cross-examined at length by Mr. Strellett regarding the post system of the Brigade and the handling of letters by the accused, the case was again adjourned.

MARINE COURT CASES

Unlawful Mooring Of Boat

Before Commander Hole at the Marine Court yesterday, Wong Tai Sing, master of boat No. 2301V, was charged with unlawfully mooring his boat outside Ave. others alongside the S.S. Zulko Maru last Sunday morning.

Defendant pleaded guilty and was fined $5.

Boarding Offence

Two Chinese Liu Kan, master of boat No. 452V and Ng Kweuk Lau, an unemployed, appeared on a charge of unlawfully boarding the S.S. Hong Kheng without the permission of the master or the officer on duty.

Both defendants pleaded guilty and said that they boarded the steamer only for the purpose of selling some second-hand clothes to the Chinese crew.

After hearing the evidence, His Worship imposed a fine of $10 or one week hard labour each.

Concrete Example

The road was up and big chunks of concrete were being loaded on to a lorry. Two navvies were struggling with a particularly heavy lump, and sweating profusely in the process, when an onlooker turned to the spectators at large and remarked: "Look at them two laxy blighers; they'd sooner do that than work for their living!"

"SHOOT ME!"

Chinese Soldier Prefers Death To Gaol

That a number of soldiers boarded the S.S. Hatching at Amoy and had no money for their fare was revealed in a case taken by Mr. Wynne Jones at the Kowloon Magistrate yesterday when seven men were charged with obtaining a passage to Hongkong without their fare.

The additional charge of assaulting the ship's officers was preferred against three of the defendants.

Appearing for the prosecution, Mr. H. J. Armstrong said the ship left Amoy last Friday with nearly 400 Chinese soldiers on board besides other passengers. The Chief Officer of the ship, with the commander's staff, went round collecting tickets, and found a number of the soldiers without them. In the resultant argument, it was alleged that the first three defendants resorted to violence, the first striking the Chief Officer and the other two setting upon an Indian guard.

Defendants denied that they had no tickets. Some of them said they bought their tickets at Amoy, while others said they had cards issued by the Chinese Bureau of Public Safety which entitled them to travel without paying.

Questioned by his Worship witness said there had been cases where such cards were produced with the bearers' photographs and they were accepted.

Defendants added that these tickets were taken away from them when they boarded the ship.

His Worship remarked that in that case, the one proof defendants had—that was, the tickets—had been taken away from them. That meant everybody on board could have been held up for obtaining their passage without paying their fare as the tickets had been taken away from them.

Mr. Armstrong:—It is the same everywhere. Even on the Empress boats, as soon as you get on board, your ticket is taken away from you, and you have no proof that you have had a ticket. Your name might have been taken at the Company's offices, but otherwise you have no proof at all. I think it is an accepted principle.

Wanted Leave

Giving evidence on his own behalf, the first defendant said he boarded the ship at Amoy with a card supplied by the Chinese Bureau of Public Safety. He intended to go to Swatow and not to Hongkong, but on the ship's arrival at the former port, he was not allowed to leave because he was accused of having assaulted one of the ship's officers.

His Worship:—Then this man should not have been brought here to this Court. He boarded the ship at Amoy and wanted to go to Swatow. He can't be charged with obtaining a passage to Hongkong. He was brought here by force. He should have been tried at Swatow by the British Consular Court. You can't bring all the riff-raff of the China Coast to Kowloon Court.

Mr. Armstrong:—According to the Merchant Shipping Act, the master of the ship was entitled to charge the defendant at Swatow, but he need not do so.

His Worship:—Then you mean a man can be taken around for six or seven months before he is charged?

Mr. Armstrong:—No, I don't say that. That would not be reasonable. But Swatow is only one day's voyage from Hongkong. The master had no option but to try him here.

"Shoot Me!"

The last four defendants, who admitted they were bound for Hongkong although they claimed they had tickets, were fined $25 each, or a month's imprisonment.

The fourth defendant, Wong Man hay, refused to leave the dock, shouting "Shoot me, I don't want to go to prison." It needed two Indian constables, one Chinese, and several European officers to take him away.

Evidence was then proceeded with on the assault charge, Mr. Johnson testifying that the first defendant hit him in the face with an electric torch, and an Indian guard deposing that the second and third defendants hit him with an iron rod and with their fists.

Mr. Armstrong asked his Worship to take a serious view of the case because the safety of the whole ship was jeopardised by the riot.

Sentence of three months' hard labour on each of the three was passed.

On hearing the sentence, the second defendant broke into tears and was led out of Court.

CHILD EDUCATION

About this time, every year, the Colony's schools hold their speech days, and these occasions have a different meaning for all of us. For the masters and staff connected with the school they mean another year's work, completed while for some of the boys or girls they mean promotion and to others, failure and disappointment. By this, however, it does not follow that speech days only concern teachers and students, for there is one section of the community that is also closely affected. Parents who have to send their children to school are more concerned than the teachers or children themselves what education means and it is because of this that the problem of the child who lags behind is a problem which touches so deeply every parent.

Experience has taught us that the matter of the lagging child cannot be settled in a day. It cannot be settled by putting the child into a slow-moving group and keeping him there. Neither can it be settled by branding him as a different, slower or more difficult child than the others of the group. It would be safe to maintain that 90 per cent of all children who lag behind—those children who are not developed to the full 100 per cent of their possibilities—do so because they have never been thoroughly understood and therefore have never been properly directed.

Many traits in a child such as lack of confidence, bashfulness, listlessness, inability to express himself, have come to be accepted as human weaknesses, natural and unavoidable, whereas there may never have been sufficient interest in the child to understand him. For this reason, children never seem to be quite what they might have been, or never seem to be contributing all to life that they should be contributing.

The very child who may appear listless or bashful may never have received the right sort of constructive development. Someone either consciously or unconsciously may have been at fault.

In order that a child might always be protected, he may have been housed without due companionship and without proper play materials. Instead of his mother reading stories to him, explaining pictures to him, showing him how to play, construct and build, developing within him a language sense, he may have been allowed to always remain the baby saying "moo" for milk, or "told" for cold. As this type of child grows older the parents often realize the great lack of development and become greatly concerned. Their concern may only add to the confusion in the child's mind. The cure for late development of this sort should be for the parent to retrace his steps, to undertake a rigorous programme of child development, working to establish new habits that will replace the old ones.

The child at the start had normal and physical energy, normal and mental faculties, keen sensibilities—so with plenty of courage and patience on the part of the parents the child may rightly come into his own. Another child may be lagging behind because of sheer, blind devotion on the part of some governess, nurse or mother. It would seem that everything possible has been done for the child, but the most important thing of all may have been omitted—that of stimulating the child to real effort, to think, see and work out things for himself. It is sad to see a child unable to exercise his own mental faculties because of some nurse or governess who

NEW SHANGHAI JUDGE

Mr. A. G. Mossop Installed

Shanghai, Feb. 12. Judge A. G. Mossop was installed at the Bench of H. M. Supreme Court this morning. Legal lights of the local bar were present to mark a new chapter in the sixty-nine years' tradition in the history of the Bar, the Secretary welcomed Judge Mossop recalling his appointment as Crown Advocate at Shanghai in 1925 and commenting on the recognition he had gained as a mediator and jurist of the highest ability. They welcomed him as a fitting successor to Judge Sir P. Grain.

Judge Mossop in replying expressed his appreciation and pledged himself to carry on ideals of British jurisprudence and great traditions of the British Supreme Court, saying, "We who spend our lives in the practice of the law know nothing higher than justice". —Reuter

VALUABLE SCIENTIFIC OBSERVATIONS

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright.))

Moscow, February 12. Valuable scientific observations made by the stratosphere balloon, which was recently wrecked and whose inmates were killed, are now being analysed by the Central Meteorological Bureau here. The observers recorded that the colour of the sky in higher altitudes was constantly changing, being alternately light blue, dark blue and deep violet, while at the altitude of 70,000 feet the sky is grey black. The log book of the wrecked balloon confirms previous observations made by Professor Piccard. —Transocean Kuo Min.

sits constantly at his side. Every normal child wishes to think, to do independent work, to observe, to express himself. Let us give him the opportunity.

Then again another child may be lagging behind, because of passivity and seeming inertia. This child answers, "I don't know," rather than to exert himself to think out the answer. To counteract this, and to develop him to the fullest extent, a certain programme of definite, practical tasks which must be done regularly may be worked out both at home and at school. These tasks will tend to give him responsibility, to train his powers of observation and memory, and will make him alert to what is going on about him. A few months of contact with the realities of life and accepting responsibilities may change the child from a seemingly dull and inactive nature into a radiant and positive character.

In trying to develop any child who tends to lag behind, we must first of all remember never to label him as a laggard. We must be careful not to measure him by common standards. No child is just cold laboratory material or merely a "case." Let us remember, as teachers and parents of children, that the most valuable thing we can do for the child who seems to lag behind is to refrain from applying cold, inhuman, scientific tests which may cause the child to react abnormally because of the unusual condition under which the tests may have been given. Nothing helps more in the development of a child than constant sympathy, understanding and encouragement in little matters of his daily life.

In our programme of reconstruction for the lagging child let us seek constantly to improve his daily living conditions, home conditions, school conditions and the relationships between the person or persons with whom he comes in direct contact. This is the child's right. He is a child not of the past, but of the present. A kindly, sympathetic, stimulating programme given in a constructive way will eradicate old habits and create new ones. Then the child will cease to be lagging behind what he might have been, and will be contributing his full share to the life about him.

A Startling Statement

(Special to "Hong Kong Daily Press")

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, February 12, 4.30 a.m.)

Budapest, Feb. 11.

Startling statements attributed to Prince Starhemberg by the Vienna correspondent of the Budapest newspaper, Ujsag, reveal a lack of cohesion and unanimity among members of the Dollfuss Government. Starhemberg speaking of the occurrences in the Tyrol said that this rebellion, which would sweep all over Austria, aimed at putting an end to democracy in Austria once for all.

According to the Hungarian correspondent, Starhemberg said that on Friday he had depicted to Dollfuss what indignation prevailed throughout the widest circles of the population regarding obstructive activities of Marxists occupying influential positions. The Tyrol Heimwehr had not retreated, and the situation had not changed. The realisation of the Government's programme meant the complete purification of Vienna's municipal life from all Marxism.

"We want to help the Chancellor in the execution of his plans," said Starhemberg, "but if Dollfuss will not undertake this we are determined to take the task in hand ourselves." Questioned about any further demands by the Heimwehr, Starhemberg said he could give no answer, but that the next days would show whether the Heimwehr would be content with the previous demands or "would come to other decisions." —Transocean Kuo Min.

RECOGNITION OF U.S.S.R.

Rome February 11. Under the title of Italo-Russia Friendship, the British newspapers stress the significant exchange of ratification for convention custom tariff between the two countries on the occasion of the tenth anniversary of the recognition of the U. S. S. R. by Italian Government. —Transocean Kuo Min.

ITALIAN CONVERSION LOAN

Rome, February 11. The British Press makes comparison between the Italian conversion and the one made by Great Britain in 1932 and points out that the operation decided by the Fascist Government, though in a smaller proportion of the English one, is much more important considering the national wealth of the two countries. The "Times" writes that the Italian conversion has obtained in its first three days a success which merits to be mentioned. The newspaper "Scotchman" writes an article signed Major Newman on the Italian colonisation of "Libia" pointing out that the efforts made by Italy for this colonisation are particularly interesting because it is done in a desert region which for centuries suffered misery and anarchy, the great development of communication gives an impulse to the exploitation of Agriculture and the relations between the natives and the Italians are very cordial. —Transocean Kuo Min.

BANK OF ITALY

Rome, February 11. The situation of the Bank of Italy for the period from 31st December to 31st January had an increase of the reserve fund of 8 millions, while the circulation of banknotes decreased 200 millions. —Transocean Kuo Min.

PARIS A PARALYSED CITY

BUT SUPPLY OF FOODSTUFFS ASSURED

Gas, Water And Electrical Power To Be Provided

(Special to "Hong Kong Daily Press")
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, February 12, 4.30 p.m.)

Paris, February 12. The Royalists organ "Action Française" was the only newspaper published in Paris this morning. The sale of the paper, however, is encountering difficulties, since numerous pickets are seeking to prevent its sale.

The supply of foodstuffs for the capital are assured, while gas, water and electric power will be provided from existing reserves with the aid of the Naval Technical Emergency Corps by an order issued by the Minister for the Navy. Postal deliveries have ceased, but the telephone service continues to function with the co-operation of the Army telephone department.—Transocean Kuo Min.

GENERAL STRIKE IN FRANCE

(Special to "Hong Kong Daily Press")
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, February 12, 4.30 p.m.)

Paris, February 11. Competent observers declare on Sunday night that presumably about 80 per cent. of the workers in France will take part in the strike of postal workers but the Government has arranged that the soldiers will clear letter boxes two or three times and do some sorting, but most probably there will not be a delivery of letters. Paris will be without newspapers for the first time in 15 years. The taxicab drivers continue their own strike, the underground railway service will work a reduced schedule run by volunteers, but buses and trams will be suspended completely. Telegrams will be forwarded by emergency helpers but the International Telephone service will probably function as usual. All officials of all Ministries and the entire public service will strike. The Paris shops will not open, but rather for fear of reprisals from strikers, the theatres likewise will remain closed. In the provinces exactly the same conditions prevail.—Transocean Kuo Min.

NEW CABINET MEETS

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright))

Paris, February 11. At its first meeting on Saturday the new Cabinet Finance Minister, Germain Martin urged that the Budget should be pushed through by use of accelerated procedure, so as to become law before the end of this month. Provisional prolongation of the old Budget from month to month was categorically refused by the Minister. Respecting the attitude of the Government towards the threats of the British Government to increase duties and on French imports unless the old quotas were reinstated, Germain Martin said that France was considering measures of reprisal but that it was necessary to preserve silence about their exact nature so as not to weaken their effect. The most probable of these counter-measures would be carried out in stages. Possibly the Franco-British Trade Agreement of 1882 would be renounced. No decision has yet been reached about the reinstatement of the chief of police Chappé dismissed by the Daladier Cabinet.—Transocean Kuo Min.

GREAT NERVOUSNESS

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright))

Paris, February 11. Great nervousness prevails among masses of people about Monday's general strike and the effect on the daily life in the capital city. Paris daily papers announced on Sunday that they could not appear on Monday either morning or evening because compositors and printers have joined the general strike movement, so the first newspapers will appear again on Tuesday morning. Whether or not the telephone service can be maintained is not yet clear, but the presumption is that only automatic exchanges will be working while all others will be suspended. On the other hand railway traffic will be kept at full strength as locomotive drivers and stokers decided merely to bring trains to rest for one minute at 9 o'clock on Monday morning as an indication of their solidarity with other branches of organised Labour.—Transocean Kuo Min.

"OLD MEN" NOT WANTED

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright))

Paris, February 12. The new Fascist semi-monthly with a highly opportunist title "Incorruptible" made its first appearance on the boulevards to-day. The editors challenging the "dictatorship of old men" demanding that France's future be placed into the hands of the young Fascist generation, which is working for the greatness of younger France.—Transocean Kuo Min.

"BLOODTHIRSTY POLICE"

Paris, February 12. Meetings of workers were held throughout France as a protest against the "Reactionary Government and Bloodthirsty Police." Preparatory to the general strike to-day to "express the sentiment of all honest people, workers, peasants, intellectuals, artisans and shopkeepers who want to end all scandals and arrest all robbers." M. Sarraut, the new Minister of the Interior conferred with police and military officials and decided on measures to deal with any possible disorders.—Reuter.

COUNTRYWIDE DEMONSTRATIONS

Paris, February 12. Although the general strike was nominally started at midnight, all was quiet here there being no incidents anywhere. A special edition of the "Humanité" urges workers to form strike pickets. The Imperial International Communications London and Paris service ceased owing to the strike.

Minor demonstrations were carried out throughout the country yesterday, the most serious being at Boulogne where clashes followed the demonstrators' attempt to rescue eleven Communists arrested by the police. The Communists were later released and order was restored.

The Left Wing demonstrations held parts like Marseilles and Nantes while the Right Wing organised counter-demonstrations in Rouen and Macon.

The police have maintained order.—Reuter.

SEMI-PARALYSED PARIS

Paris, February 12. Minus half the bus service, limited shopping facilities and no newspapers citizens this morning awoke in a strange semi-paralysed city, many being obliged to walk to office, but at 10 p.m. there were no untoward incidents save the stoning of a tramcar by strikers. St. Dennis suburban residents, thanks to the co-operation of immaculately dressed officials in punching tickets, found a fairly good metro service and were able to use the automatic telephones as usual. Parisians slipping their morning coffee were calmly discussing their provisions for to-day's strike. Unemployed dustbins line the streets, the familiar early morning postmen being absent and telegraph services are completely interrupted. Water gas and electricity services are working normally, while railway stations and telephone exchanges are being guarded by troops and police, respectively.—Reuter.

DUTCH STEAMER ASHORE

London, February 12. During a fog in the Channel, last night, the Dutch steamer Triton, 1057 tons, ran on a reef of rocks near Star Point, Devon. People from the neighbouring village stood by the spot but the crew are left in no immediate peril. It was hoped she would be refloated with the morning tide.—British Wireless.

The Bill is regarded to be constructive, in the longrun prohibiting practices which it is desirable to prohibit.—Reuter.

DISARMAMENT QUESTION

Little Expected From London Conference

Paris, February 12. The French Note to London to-day for transmission to Mr. Henderson holds out little hope for the results of the Franco-German conversations, says the Petit Parisien.—Reuter.

BONCOUR TO LEAD FRENCH DELEGATION

(Special to "Hong Kong Daily Press")
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, February 12, 7.30 p.m.)

Paris, February 12. M. Paul Boncour will remain leader of the French delegation to the League of Nations, according to a statement made to Pressmen by the Foreign Minister, M. Barthou.—Transocean Kuo Min.

DELEGATES ARRIVE IN LONDON

London, February 12. The Secretary General of the League of Nations, Monsieur Avenol and the Director of the Disarmament Section of the League, Secretariat, Monsieur Agnides arrived in London yesterday and will be joined to-day by the vice-President of the Disarmament conference Monsieur Politis and Doctor Benes. They will confer to-morrow with Mr. Henderson, President of the Conference regarding Conference work.—British Wireless.

U. S. AIR MAIL CONTRACTS

Lindbergh Objects to Cancellation

New York, February 12. Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, who is technical adviser to the Trans-Continental Eastern Air Line Company, has sent a message to President Roosevelt, protesting against the cancellation of air mail contracts as damaging to all American aviation. The cancellation, which becomes effective on February 19, was ordered as the result of alleged collusive bidding.—Reuter.

VEHEMENT PROTESTS

Washington, February 12. The cancellation of domestic air mail contracts is likely to prove the initial step in an examination and recasting of Government subsidies wherever they are granted, for example, the merchant fleet. Meanwhile, the field of profiteering in war supplies is also under survey and there is some apprehension of unwelcome exposure. Pending these developments the Stock Market Control Bill has met with vehement protest by members and the Board of the Stock Exchange and officials of twelve private air lines to which the Government is paying $2,000,000 yearly.

Wall Street, though it expected the Stock Exchange Bill to be drastic, is somewhat daunted at the likelihood of the legislation reducing the activity on security exchanges in New York by 50 per cent. but comforts itself in the hope that the reduction to a sixty per cent margin requirement will also be some restriction on the powers of the Federal Trade Commission in administering the Law. The Government's summary arrangement of air mail transport is expected to be embodied in legislation before the end of the Session. Meanwhile, the Postal Authorities and army are drafting an emergency transport plan.—Reuter.

BROKERS' VIEWS

Prominent Stock Exchange firms when interviewed as regards the effects of the Fletcher Bill, point out the Bill, if adopted, would curtail activity on Wall Street, but it is generally agreed the measure is likely to lead to a more stable New York Stock Exchange cutting out the present wild movements, limiting speculation.

The new margin requirements may lead to selling in view of obtaining additional cover but the prohibition pool operations which

DON BRADMAN'S FUTURE

Adelaide, February 12. Bradman has joined H. W. Hodgetts, a South Australian member of the Board of Control, in a stock broking partnership in Adelaide and begins his duties immediately. When the England tour ends he will play for South Australia in the Sheffield Shield, thus all doubts as to Bradman's future are set at rest.—Reuter.

WORLD'S LAND SPEED RECORD

Another Attempt By Sir M. Campbell

Washington, February 12. The American Automobile Association has received definite assurance that Sir Malcolm Campbell will attempt to beat his own land speed record of 272 m.p.h. next August on the Salduro Lake bed near Salt Lake City. The deposit of hard packed mineral salts is considered to make it one of the few surfaces on which a speed of 300 m.p.h. is practicable.—Reuter.

MAIL NEWS FROM CANTON

19TH ROUTE ARMY SOLDIERS ATTEMPT TO LAND AT CANTON

(From Our Special Correspondent)

Canton, Feb. 12. Five hundred soldiers of the 19th Route Army who attempted to land last evening at the Government Wharf on East Bund at the foot of Wing Hon Road were driven back by gendarmes who opened fire on the soldiers.

Shops nearby hastily put on their shutters and closed their iron gates, fearing that some serious trouble was about. After firing several shots, the gendarmes succeeded in compelling the soldiers to go back to their boats and to return to Whampoa whence they came. The gendarmes had to open fire, as the unarmed troops refused to abide to the order not to land.

They are now back in Whampoa and will be given an opportunity to be enlisted in the First Group Army. All the troops are natives of Kwangtung. They were defeated in Southern Fukien by Nanking troops but preferred to surrender to General Chen Tsai Tong, Commander-in-Chief of the Canton armies.

Altogether about 12,000 troops of the 19th Route Army have returned to Kwangtung and will be enlisted in the local forces. The situation in Fukien is being closely watched here, although the local military authorities appear to be very calm. According to authentic reports, there are at least 100,000 Nanking troops in Fukien, the majority of them moving southward in the direction of Lungyeh.

REVOLUTION IN SPAIN?

Civil Guard In Madrid Mobilised

(Special to "Hong Kong Daily Press")

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, February 12, 7.30 p.m.)

Madrid, February 12. Persistent rumours of an impending revolutionary uprising by Socialist-Communist elements which are to be ushered in by a general strike, caused the authorities to take precautionary measures.

The entire Civil Guard here has been mobilised and the machine gun companies are held ready to intervene at a moment's notice. The government has decided to have all political orators indulging in inflammatory speeches arrested on the spot and brought before the Courts of Summary Jurisdiction.

Grave disturbances are reported from various parts of the country, and from Portuguese, Gestao and Ferrel where the crowds, consisting mainly of women, are pillaging provision stores.—Transocean Kuo Min.

WHY SHOULD MEN DICTATE TO THE FAIR SEX?

Goebbels Champions The Ladies

(Special to "Hong Kong Daily Press")
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, February 12, 4.30 p.m.)

Berlin, Feb. 12. Reichsminister Goebbels has almost overnight become the idol of German women whose cause he so brilliantly championed at a mass meeting yesterday.

Dr. Goebbels maintained in his statement that no mere man has the right to ordain whether the female race should smoke, use lipstick and (or) powder.

On the subject of morality, Dr. Goebbels felt it incumbent on himself to pass the remark that man is incompetent to judge on everything pertaining to womanhood. An irritating moral code for women was laid down by those women dressed well and stylishly. The Philistines whose nerves are upset by smoking or cosmetics would stick posters up in cafes and restaurants. "The German woman does not smoke."

Dr. Goebbels argued as to whether men had the right to dictate to women: with the same right the German woman might proclaim as a moral code for man. "The German man does not drink." All this Dr. Goebbels remarked has nothing to do with the question of new female ideal. He declared that National-Socialism does not want to degrade women but only lead them back to their natural profession as wife and mothers. He owned that women are not to be dispensed with in modern business enterprises, politics and so forth and National-Socialism does not dream of superseding unmarried women from their respective professions. "Transocean" then goes on to say: reception very bad to fair, signals weak to fair with local disturbances. (We hope the women of Germany are not responsible for these indications. "Ed.")

STORM CLOUDS GATHERING IN AUSTRIA

SOCIALIST PARTY DECLARE GENERAL STRIKE

Serious Disturbances In Capital

(Special to "Hong Kong Daily Press")
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, February 12, 7.30 p.m.)

Vienna, February 12. Storm-clouds appear to be rapidly gathering in Austria. The authorities were taken completely by surprise on Monday by a general protest strike by Vienna's working classes.

Shortly before noon, Socialist functionaries appeared in all the workshops and notified the management that an order was given by the Party that all workmen should down tools at noon sharp. On the strike of the clock the entire tram traffic came to a standstill, while simultaneously work ceased in the power station and gas works so that the entire city was without lights or electric current.

The police are employing special generators for their own telegraphic and telephone service while the general telephone service is suspended owing to the lack of current.

The duration of the strike cannot yet be foreseen, but it is assumed that the strike is meant to be a protest against current events.

Serious disturbances have broken out in various parts of the capital owing to the strike. A police inspector who, with his men, attempted to disperse a group of armed demonstrators was shot dead by one of the manifestants.—Transocean Kuo Min.

FIFTEEN REPORTED KILLED

Vienna, Feb. 12.

Fifteen are reported killed and at least sixty injured at Linz in upper Austria following a general strike which was declared to-day by Socialists.

The police being told in an attempt to search the Socialist headquarters summoned the aid of troops who fired on the Socialist stronghold which replied with hand-grenades. The battle developed in Pestalozz Square.

Martial Law has been proclaimed at Vienna where the Socialist leaders made a proclamation denouncing Fascism. Trams are not running, and gas and electricity was cut off at noon. It is stated the Government is contemplating Martial Law throughout Austria.—Reuter.

CURFEW ORDER

Vienna, Feb. 12. Curfew order has been proclaimed in upper Austria, hotels and halls have been ordered to close at 7 p.m. Street gatherings are prohibited.

The Austrian Government has issued an appeal to the nation, particularly workers, urging it to be calm and threatening most severe penalties for acts of violence against the regime which asserts the Socialists have planned a Coup d'Etat.—Reuter.

SERIOUS CLASHES

(Special to "Hong Kong Daily Press")
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, February 12, 7.30 p.m.)

Vienna, February 12. Serious clashes occurred in the city of Linz, on the Danube, between troops and Police on the one hand and Socialist manifestants on the other.

According to latest reports the Socialists barricaded themselves in the Party building offering armed resistance to the besiegers, hurling hand grenades and making extensive use of fire-arms.

The Police and troops thereupon opened machine-gun fire on the building.

Big Socialist demonstrations are also reported from the neighbourhood of Linz, and all main roads are occupied by strong detachments of Police and Military.—Transocean Kuo Min.

FRANCE ADAMANT

(Special to "Hong Kong Daily Press")
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, February 12, 7.30 p.m.)

Paris, February 12. The French Note, which is to be handed in at London in the course of Monday, will flatly reject the British demand for the re-establishment by France of the maximum import quotas on British products, according to reliable information. The French, moreover, have let it be known that any British reprisals will be promptly met by counter reprisals directed especially against British coal exports.

Government circles are still confident there will be no Franco-British trade war, and that all differences will be smoothed over in the course of trade negotiations which the French Note suggests, as the best means of disentangling the quota problem.—Transocean Kuo Min.

LONDON GOLD MARKET

Heavy Purchases By America

London, Feb. 12.

Last week was by far the most active which the gold market in London has experienced and the amounts dealt in were extremely large. Purchases were mainly for shipment to America. The Europa sailed from Southampton on Saturday with nearly $5,000,000 in gold bullion and this brought the total of gold shipped in six liners from Southampton in the last eight days to $12,250,000. In Liverpool gold bullion to the value of $6,500,000 was shipped in the liners Rheus and Laurentic, while the liner Caledonia sailed from the Clyde with gold valued at $1,650,000.—British Wireless.

COMPLAINT AGAINST RAYON AND YARN

Alleged Conspiracy to Force Price-Fixing Monopoly

Washington, February 8. A serious complaint was filed to-day against ten rayon and yarn companies by the Federal Trade Commission.

The companies, which manufacture practically all the rayon and yarn in the United States, are charged with "combining and conspiring to force a price-fixing monopoly in the sale of their products."—Reuter.

Washington, February 7. The Federal Trade Commission to-day issued a formal complaint against ten manufacturers of viscose rayon yarn, accusing them of conspiring to form a price-fixing monopoly.

The accused companies supply virtually all rayon yarn used in the United States, it is stated. The Commission has directed them to file answer within thirty days or to cease operations. A decision is being prepared in the meantime.—Reuter.

NEW PARTY OF CONTROL

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright))

Moscow, February 12. The Central Committee of the Communist Party which exercised political and moral control over the party has been dissolved by a decision of the Party Congress and replaced by a new organ called the "Committee for Party Control" and headed by Kaganovich.

The Government organ for the control of Soviet administration has also been abolished, and replaced by the "Party Committee for Soviet Control" of which Kulbyshev has been named chairman.—Transocean Kuo Min.

BRISTOL DEFENCE FAILS

Bowers Puts Derby In Next Round

Bristol City again surprised their First Division Cup opponents at the Baseball Ground, and it was not until eleven minutes from the end that Bowers headed through to give Derby County the victory.

Derby will have to find a much more satisfactory standard of forward play if they are to beat Wolverhampton Wanderers in the next round, but it must be acknowledged that Bristol's defensive system allowed scant opportunity for brilliant marksmanship.

Bristol generally had one man shadowing the Derby wingers, and there were always four or five players waiting to block the way to goal. When one failed in a tackle, another was ready.

KEEN BRISTOL MARKING

Full-backs and half-backs played so well together that they never seemed to get in each other's way. Their marking was excellent. Time and again a Bristol player appeared to come from nowhere to make a successful tackle, or charge down a shot when a Derby opponent, though he had a clear field.

Bristol's intensive scheme of defence, in fact, was magnificently carried through, and the whole team showed an amazing capacity for work.

Derby supporters kept on telling themselves that Bristol simply could not keep up their work. Yet they did. Instead of crumpling up when Bowers made his successful header from a centre, Bristol rallied strongly and were actually forcing the pace at the finish.

They nearly succeeded in scoring, for it looked odd against Kirby, getting to a high ball from Homer in the last minute. Kirby made a fine save just under the bar, and Derby were through.

Roberts, Birks, Jennings and Riley excelled in Bristol's defence, and Roberts, in particular, proved a match-winner by his readiness to shoot in the City's occasional raids. Kirby made three fine saves from the outside left.

Hibernian have secured J. Smith, an inside-left, from Heart of Midlothian.

LAST-MINUTE WIN FOR VILLA

A fine goal scored by Waring a minute from the end gave Aston Villa victory by the odd goal of five at Liverpool. There was never a dull moment, and the 40,000 spectators were not disappointed in their hope that the match would prove no exception to the rule of Liverpool-Villa clashes being among the best games of the year.

The Villa were rather fortunate to get away with the points, for though they were undoubtedly the more methodical side and played the more polished football, Liverpool had their full share of the game. Indeed, there were times when it looked as if Liverpool would gain a handsome win.

Starting rather slowly, Liverpool improved steadily, and their second-half display bore no resemblance to some of the exhibitions they have given recently. They had the better of the play after the interval, and should have obtained more than the one goal by which they wiped out their half-time deficit.

SUPPORT FOR BRADSHAW

The Villa attack was clever. Steel was at the top of his form, however, while Scott made some brilliant saves.

There was greater power about the play of the Liverpool half-backs. Bradshaw was outstanding, and because of the improved play of his wing halves found time to play his forwards with passes. Thus the attack got more chances than they have had for a long time.

Dix opened the scoring for the Villa in nine minutes, but, following brilliant play by Nieuwenhuis, Liverpool equalised eleven minutes later. The winger received half the length of the field, heading several men, but he took the ball rather too far in and was tackled by the goalkeeper. The Villa keeper, however, could only make a partial clearance and Roberts got a fine equaliser from a difficult angle.

Inside five minutes Waring restored the Villa's lead, but 14 minutes after the interval Donegan, with a free kick a foot outside the penalty area drove through a crowd of players to score. This looked like ending the goal tally, but from a breakaway a minute off time Waring obtained a good goal for the Villa.

No Fair Offer

A popular East End referee was M.C. at a large charitable boxing display and appeared for the first time in evening dress. When the first bout was due to start, he jumped into the ring and slowly turned with outstretched arms to demand silence. As a deep hush settled over the audience, a Cockney cried out: "Is this yer all right, Mike? What about buying it?"

LAWN TENNIS

Ho Ka Lau's Easy Win

Y. Hachiuma, the only Japanese entrant in the open singles championship, greatly disappointed his supporters yesterday when he put up a feeble performance against Ho Ka Lau, the Interporter. The Japanese player had shown good all-round improvement during the past two years and was expected, at least, to provide Ho Ka Lau with some stiff opposition.

Ho, however, had the measure of his opponent right from the commencement and only allowed Hachiuma two games throughout the match.

W. A. H. Duff and A. L. Sullivan made an impressive appearance in the doubles, when they defeated Major W. L. Eastwick-Field and Major B. Withington by 6-0, 8-3. Duff and Sullivan will meet Tam Yoc Fong and Ng Kam Chuen in the second round.

In the other singles, J. Cassumbhoy defeated I. M. A. Razack, and Tu Tak Cheuk eliminated F. H. Kwok. In the best match of the afternoon.

Results.

The 1.1 results of yesterday's games were:—

Singles

J. A. Cassumbhoy beat I.M.A. Razack 6-4, 6-4.
Ho Ka Lau beat Y. Hachiuma 6-1, 6-1.
Tu Tak Cheuk beat F. H. Kwok 3-6, 6-1, 7-5.

Doubles

Tu Tak-lam and Lau Man Ching beat H. A. Barros and F. J. Remedios 5-7, 8-6, 8-6.
Tsui Ping-fan and Tsui Yun Pui beat P. K. Liang and M. C. Hung 8-2, 6-1.
W. A. H. Duff and A. L. Sullivan beat Major Eastwick-Field and Major B. Withington 6-0, 8-3.

To-day's Programme

The second round tie between S. A. Rumjahn, title holder, and H. D. Rumjahn is down for decision this afternoon. W. A. H. Duff will also be seen in action, with A.E.P. Guest as his opponent.

TEST CRICKET

England In Strong Position

The weather was fine when the Test was resumed before a large crowd. The wicket was crumbling badly and Noomal, who was struck in the head by a ball from Clark the previous day and was forced to retire, could not resume his knock and India, therefore, closed their innings with 145 for 8.

Jardine did not force a follow on as a good recovery by India would turn the tables on England on the crumbling wicket. Walters and Bakewell again opened England's innings but after the latter had scored only four he was caught by Pathala off Amar Singh—10-1-4.

Barnett joined Walters and the two carried the score to 76 when the newcomer was caught by Mushtaq Ali off Nazir Ali for 26. Townsend joined Walters but he was short-lived being caught off Nazir Ali by Naidu for 8 and then Langridge (12 not out) and Walters (82 not out) brought the total to 141 for 4 when lunch was taken.

WALTERS GETS HIS CENTURY

After the lunch interval Walters reached his 100 when he drove the ball to the off boundary to score 101 in 145 minutes. One run later, however, he was caught by Gopalan who was fielding as substitute for Noomal off Amar Singh. He was at the wickets for 150 minutes during which time he indulged in some forceful cutting and driving to score 13 boundaries. At 261 for 7, Jardine applied the closure.

When Hussain and Mushtaq Ali opened the innings for India, Jardine put on Clark and Nichols to bowl but the wicket did not suit the fast bowlers and Verity and Langridge were given the ball.

India lost their first wicket at 16 when Mushtaq Ali was caught by Mitchell in the slips off Verity. At 49 Nazir Ali (21) went out in an identical manner and then Hussain (16) and Amar Singh (18) played out time, the total standing at 65 for 2.

WHAT IS WRONG WITH FOOTBALL IN SHANGHAI?

An Out-Of-Date Organisation

SUGGESTED REFORMATION ON HOME LINES

By "A Soccer Fan"

As it may interest local football fans we reprint the following from the "North China Daily News."

What is wrong with Shanghai football? What is the reason for the disturbing state into which it appears to have fallen? The critics answer everything. Criticism is of two types, constructive and destructive, and very little constructive criticism has been noticeable from the critics. Lovers of the game recognise that a disease appears to have raised its head in Shanghai, and the great traditions of the game maintained, are seeking a remedy to destroy the disease which is lowering the prestige and glorious name of the world's greatest game. In a city like Shanghai, it should be an ambassador of peace, and stimulate healthy rivalry amongst the nations.

We hear that players are discontented. Club officials are dissatisfied, and spectators are fed up, and the S.F.A. is held to blame for all the failings. What is the S.F.A.? Answer, the clubs. Who makes the clubs? Answer, the players. So that, if things are not working in harmony, then the players have some responsibility and club officials should realise that they have a responsibility to the game, and should endeavour to make their players realise their responsibility to the game.

Disturbing Features. Many disturbing features have been noticed during the past two seasons—features which have brought the grand old game into disrepute, resulting in the spirit of amateurism having to take a back seat. Love of the game appears to be a matter of secondary consideration, and the clubs who are in membership with the S.F.A. have only themselves to blame. Efforts are made to compare the standard of Shanghai football with that of the two leading London amateur leagues, and the conditions of organised football here with organised football at home.

Regarding a comparison of organisations, it is possible to make one. I have no intention of comparing personnel, or criticising Shanghai personnel as against that of London, for this is not a criticism aimed at persons. The comparison I wish to make is one of organisation, and to endeavour to ascertain which produces the best results in the best interests of the game.

Points of Organisation. Let us take Home football first. We have the players whom form a club, with its officials, and a combination of clubs forming a league. Each club appoints a delegate to the league and they form its executive. The executive is the controlling body, and appoints its various committees, such as Referees and Rough Play Committee, and a Finance Committee, the members of which are delegates, and reports are submitted regarding the activities of each committee to the executive and confirmed, and we have a linking up of the league to the National Association by means of delegates or representatives from the league to the national body. Thus we have two bodies, one controlling league football and one controlling cup-ties and international games. In passing, might I state that the national body has first claim on the players belonging to clubs under its jurisdiction. This roughly represents the position at home.

Let us now turn to Shanghai. We have players, the clubs, and one body that controls the league, cup-ties, the international series, and the Interport series, although it does not appear to have established the right to the first claim on players' services. The Shanghai Football Association is a body representing the clubs, and the clubs delegate to various representatives at the annual general meeting the responsibility of carrying on the work of management, they being known as the Council.

Regarding officials, I would recommend that the Councils of the S.F.A. and of the junior and senior leagues should have different representatives and I will give my reasons for this later. We would then reach a stage in line with organised football at home, having bodies in charge of other grades, with leagues affiliated to and in membership with the Association. The S.F.A. would then be placed in a position somewhat similar to that of the Football Association of England.

I have refrained from dealing with the most important factor in the game—the referee—presuming that the same procedure will be adopted as at home, and that, with football organised on the above lines, he will be better able to do his part in raising the standard of the game.

BRITISH ACCUSED APPEARS AT DISTRICT COURT

Alleges Wrongful Accusation

Six prisoners, instead of four, were arraigned before Chief Judge Tien in the First Special District Court last Thursday in connection with the alleged fraud of $136,838.25 on the Chartered Bank of India, Australia and China on January 12. They were J. I. Ionin, Russian, Wang Tsang-ching, ex-convict of Chartered Bank, L. Shmolevsky, Russian, Zia Ping-foong, shop accountant, E. V. Salnik, Russian, and Yang Zai-lin, printer, Salnik was arrested in Tientsin and brought to Shanghai early last week.

Admissions and denials characterized yesterday's hearing which, after lasting over two hours, after which the case was adjourned by Judge Tien. With the exception of Shmolevsky, who was released on $300 shop security at the request of his lawyer, Dr. O. Fischer, the prisoners were all ordered to be returned to the police station. The last accused, who was summoned before the District Court, was ordered to be placed under arrest at the conclusion of yesterday's hearing, the police declaring that sufficient evidence had been gathered against him.

At the outset of the Court session, Mr. Paul Y. Yu, Assistant Municipal Advocate, who conducted the prosecution, stated that the fifth prisoner had been implicated by Mr. Kobayashi, Japanese, who testified at the first hearing that he had, in company with another Russian, visited his shop in December and ordered a block of cheques. The charges against the sixth prisoner were the same as those against the other accused as he had printed the forged cheques used in the alleged fraud. Counsel then said that the police would like to call two more witnesses, but that only one of these, A. C. Mack, British, was in Court, the other one, Marcel, a Russian, being not here although he had made a written statement at the police station, setting forth how he had been sent by the first accused to open accounts with three Chinese banks, including the China State Bank and the Kiangsu and Chekiang Commercial and Savings Bank.

Block Made. The Judge then questioned the first prisoner whether he had sent the Russian named Marcel to open accounts with Chinese banks and the first accused replied in the negative.

The fifth prisoners, in answer to the Judge, stated that he was a friend of both A. C. Mack and the first accused, being an employee in Messrs. Bush, Mack and Co. from July to December, 1933. Accused said that by order of Mack, he visited a Japanese shop on Woosung Road to order a block in August and September last year, but that the work was later done by Kashin, Russian. Accused, however, denied having ordered the printing of forged cheques on behalf of others.

Questioned when and why he left Shanghai for Tientsin, the fifth prisoner said he arrived in Tientsin on December 17 last because his wife and son were ill and needed a rest in the north. In Tientsin, he met Kashin who told him that he had obtained $8,000. Accused, saying that neither Mack nor accused asserted his innocence in the Kashin had told him about the forged cheques and that, although he did go to a Japanese shop to order a block, he had no knowledge that this was intended for use in connection with the printing of forged cheques.

A. C. Mack then took the witness box and was asked to tell the Court whether the first accused was once an employee in his firm. Mack: "I have been subpoenaed here by the Central Police Station and I wish to state to the Court that I have been wrongfully and unjustly accused by that defendant Ionin of being implicated in his wrong doing and upon false accusations have been indicted in the British Criminal Court. Under the circumstances—"

Here the Judge interrupted and told the witness to answer just what he was asked.

Refusal to Answer. Mack said that under the circumstances he respectfully asked the Court for its protection and desired not to answer any questions that might tend to incriminate him.

As Mack was persistent in refusing to answer his questions, the Judge resumed his examination of the first prisoner. The latter said that once he and Kashin went to a first prisoner. The latter said that printing shop, but had forgotten where the shop was situated. Accused said he had given $200 to the third accused to buy clothing.

The second accused said he became acquainted with the first accused through the introduction of the third and that since then, the first accused had called at him many times, during which he declared he could find him a better job and asked him to find a Chartered Bank cheque for use in connection with the printing of a receipt form. Accused said a cooie at the Chartered Bank by the name of Mang Tsang found at the bank a B.A.T. cheque and gave this to him in a lavatory. This, accused said, he handed over to the first accused who gave $30 to the cooie. Accused admitted having obtained $4,500.

Further questioned by the Judge, the first accused admitted having asked the second accused to find for him a Chartered Bank cheque and said he did not tell the second accused for what use this cheque was intended until about one week after he had obtained it.

Cheques Obtained

While admitting having visited various shops in company with Kashin, the third accused, questioned by the Judge, declared he had no knowledge that the purpose of their visits was to order articles to be used in a fraud. Accused said that, by the first accused's order, he visited a Japanese shop with Kashin. He and Kashin also went to the home of Mr. Baptista in a motor-car. When they arrived there, Kashin went in, but he stayed in the car. When Kashin came out, he showed him several cheques. He also accompanied Kashin to a Foochow Road shop as an interpreter as he spoke fluent Chinese while Kashin could not. The first accused gave him $100 on January 13 to buy clothing and another $100 on a Monday. In answer to a question as to how many people he had heard had talked about the cheque matter, the accused said he had heard Ionin, Wang Tsang-ching, Zia Ping-foong, Kashin, and Sanzett talked about that.

Mr. Yu told the Court that the police had not yet decided whether they were going to take action against Sanzett or not.

The fourth accused told the Court that he knew the first accused at the Teh Hsing beef shop, owned by his cousin, and that it was the first accused who had asked him to print several cheques, the block for which, according to the first accused, was given him by

CHINESE FISH-BOWL FOR MUSEUM

Acquisition by the Victoria and Albert Institution

The Victoria and Albert Museum has acquired a very large Chinese fish-bowl of porcelain, painted in underglaze blue and enamel green, red, and yellow; it bears the mark and dates from the reign of Wan Li (1573-1619). These great garden bowls, made to hold ornamental fish and water-lilies, are technically and artistically among the greatest achievements of the Chinese potters. Their firing presented great difficulties, and there is a legend, recorded by a later director of the Imperial Porcelain Factory, that one of the potters of the Wan Li period (in which this firing of some Imperial fish-bowls was made), charged with the firing of some Imperial fish-bowls in despair of a successful result cast himself into the kiln, with the consequence that the bowls came out perfect.

French Bedstead

Early specimens are rarely seen in Europe, possibly on account of their great size and weight, which make transport a difficult matter. The design of ducks in pairs, including mandarin ducks (emblems of conjugal felicity), lotuses, and water weeds on this specimen is remarkably rhythmical and lively.

Mack. Accused said he later asked the sixth accused to do the work. Questioned by the Judge, the sixth prisoner said he was the owner of the Lien Yi printing shop. When the first prisoner placed an order with his shop for the printing of several cheques, it was not mentioned these were forged ones, accused told the Court.

"TEN MINUTE ALIBI"

Amateur Dramatic Club's
Promise Of Excellent
Entertainment

Preparations for the Amateur Dramatic Club's presentation of "Ten Minute Alibi" are progressing satisfactorily and Mrs. Grossman, the producer, is confident that a high standard of acting will be achieved. The cast includes Gerald Nigel, Philip Bayly-Jones, J. Roberts, Roger Lindsell, Eric Brooks, Kenneth Kemble, Sidney West and Veronica Evans.

The curtain will rise at 9.15 p.m. sharp, on the nights of February 17th, 20th, 21st, 23rd and 24th and as the interest of the play begins immediately, patrons are requested to be in their seats punctually. Booking is at the Anderson Music Co. and an early application for tickets is recommended.

THE PLAY
The stage history of this play is both interesting and instructive. Following a by no means singular experience the play went the round of several theatres, and finally passed into the hands of Mr. Ronald Adams of the Embassy Theatre, who stepped in where others feared to tread, with the result that at the first performance at the Embassy the author's work scored an unmistakable success, and speedily the arrangement was made with Mr. Horace Watson to produce it at the Haymarket Theatre, where it is justifying all the high expectations of both author and producer.

Insanity Not Recognised
The three protagonists in the drama are Philip Sevilla, Colin Derwent and Betty Findon. The action takes place in Sevilla's flat in Bloomsbury.

Betty is a charming young lady very much in love with Sevilla, and she believes that her love is fully returned, and with her love there is mingled an element of great pity for Sevilla has told her that his married life is a tragedy, as he explains to Betty "I want to get free from her, but the divorce courts do not recognise insanity as a reason."

"Need it be said, at the moment, that Sevilla's wife is a myth, that he is an accomplished and experienced deceiver, and this reputation is well-known to Colin Derwent who is himself deeply in love with Betty, but Colin is a penniless barrister, and that is the barrier to his love-making. Betty has come to Sevilla to tell him that she will accede to his ardent wooing, and go with him to Paris as his mistress, trusting in his honour and his promises of a happy future."

Colin has become seriously alarmed at Betty's intimacy with Sevilla, and follows her to the latter's flat where he has a stormy interview with the man, and pleads pathetically with the girl not to wreck her future, even telling her of the stories current concerning Sevilla, with a history of one particular girl victim who committed suicide after she had been deserted in the Argentine. In Sevilla's amours, Paris is but a transitional stage; the Argentine is the convenient country for provoking the trouble that gives him the excuse for abandoning the girl who had given him her all.

Colin tries threats to the man, and to these Sevilla answers, "How exactly can you prevent us doing what we want (airily). Short of killing me, of course." And Colin answers very seriously, "You know, Sevilla, I'm beginning to think I'd do even that."

SERIOUS RIOTS AT DROGHEDA

Troops Fire On Demonstrators

(Special to "Hong Kong Daily Press")
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, February 12, 7.30 p.m.)

Dublin, February 12. Troops had to be employed in the town of Drogheda where a group of Blue-shirts were attacked on Sunday night by Republicans when returning from a meeting in the neighbouring town of Dundalk. Severe hand-to-hand fighting ensued so that the local authorities requested troops to be sent from Dublin, and who arrived at Drogheda soon afterwards, equipped with gas masks and tear bombs.

According to latest reports, about twenty people were wounded when the troops were forced to throw tear bombs to disperse the crowd. Similar scenes were enacted at Dundalk, where a bomb exploded in front of the house of one General O'Duffy's adherents, who recently incurred displeasure with the Republicans by giving evidence against them in course of proceedings before the Court. The Police charged the manifestants with truncheons, wounding numerous men, women and even children.

Collisions occurred in several parts of Ireland. In the vicinity of Kantusk where General O'Duffy addressed a meeting, Republicans blocked the roads with telegraph poles as well as felled trees in an unsuccessful endeavour to prevent the meeting taking place. Trans-ocean Kuo Min.

PROTEST AGAINST "BLUE SHIRTS"

London, February 12. Twenty persons were injured at Drogheda last night, when the police made a baton-charge on a crowd which had collected to protest against the "Blue Shirts" procession.

The Police were forced to summon troops, who rushed from Dublin. The mob stoned the troops, who replied with tear gas bombs, and fired blank shots over the heads of the crowd. Order was eventually restored.

The "Blue Shirts" were marching to the station to entrain for Dundalk for the meeting which was addressed by Mr. W. T. Cosgrave, former President of the Irish Free State.

This caused wild scenes, and the Police were forced to make a baton-charge. — Reuter.

THE GAY NINETIES BALL

At The Peninsula Hotel

On Saturday, February 24, the old family album, which for years has lain on a woolen antimacassar on the drawing-room table, side by side with Grandma's sampler, will be re-opened and its pictures come to life. The clock will be put back some forty years. Mother will once more wear her pork-pie hat, daughter her balloon sleeves and her wasp-waist, and father will show how "old sports" of the good old days were attired, while son will show how the Young Bloods could wear their blazers, their boaters and their monocles.

Come along then to the Peninsula Hotel Gay Nineties Ball, on Saturday, and dance the Polka and join in the old choruses. Revive memories of the days of hansom cabs, (surely the cosiest of vehicles!), of motor cars dashing along at the amazing speed of fifteen miles an hour, and of steamrollers preceded by a man with a red flag! Come and have a good time.

the skilful manner in which he moves the hands backwards and forwards so as to satisfy his innocent collaborators of his absence just at those moments which might identify him with the murder. This means quick entrances, hurried exits, and much coolness of thought and action, with rapid decisions and explanations. All are convinced of the genuineness of the Alibi—except one. And that one is Betty. She has understood, and Colin knows that she knows.

MR. ALLAN CAMERON

B AS KING HENRY LAUGHTON SUPER VII IN AMOROUS MOOD

der Korda, notable English director, England's great and highly amorous monarch of the 16th century, who is recorded in history as the Bluebeard of kings. Theatre next Sunday, on the 18th, in "The Private Life of Henry VIII" in the person of Charles Laughton.

This picture, a United Artists release gives Laughton his greatest opportunity, without doubt, and he makes advantage of his opportunity by giving a richly human portrait of the man in the monarch.

The story concentrates on the romances of the King who married six women and caused two of the six to pay for their infidelity with their deaths under the ax of the executioner. The first wife was divorced, the second, the famous Anne Boleyn was beheaded; the third died giving Henry his first son and third child; the fourth, the German Duchess of Cleves, was his wife for only a day and part of a night; the fifth went the cruel, quick way of Anne Boleyn, and the sixth, an elderly nurse, hen pecked the again king into taking care of his health and as the picture closes, is characterized by him: "and the best is the worst."

Vincent Korda and the story's authors, Laos Bro and Auther Wimperis, have turned out a picture which is permeated with flashing dialogue, risque though enormously amusing and entertaining situations, and the powerful picture of a king who was a man.

Laughton has made Henry of history a definitely human figure running the gamut of hilarious, boisterous, eating and laughing, hunting and drinking, loving and storming, and driven to the depths of genuine grief as the wife he thought was really true and whom he really loved, was revealed as an adulteress, her lover his own personal aide.

One of the riotously funny situations is when Henry, having made an appointment with Katherine Howard in her room late at night, tries to steal there unnoticed through guard halls and, having at last gained her doors, prings before knocking. When he says it is Henry knocking she asks "Henry who?"—to the king in his own palace!

Another is the wedding night of Henry and Ann of Cleves, who is in love with another and intends to get rid of her royal husband somehow. She does it by sitting up all night playing cards with Henry and winning from him jewelry, money, a divorce and the man she loves.

Particularly splendid performances are given by Blinnie Barnes as Katherine Howard, Elsa Lancaster as Ann of Cleves, Robert

"GIBE AT THE LEAGUE"

Demonstrations At Munich

Munich, February 24. Politics invaded the famous Munich Carnival held this afternoon when a five-mile procession paraded the streets. This included a car showing the Goddess of Goddess of Peace holding olive-branch riding on the tank, and another showed a German peasant escorted by heavily armed soldiers of all nations, while placards asked spectators, "Do you want to return to Geneva?"

German soldiers had paper helmets and sticks with cushions on the end.

A gibe at the League was featured by a banner reading, "those who do not believe in the League" carried by representatives of nations who are not members while behind came a group of those who believe in the League consisting of only two camels.

A display, mocking at German refugees showed a Paris cafe over-crowded with Jews making speeches to a crowd.—Reuter.

MANCHURIAN OPEN MARKETS

Changchun Planning New Control System

Changchun, February 8. As part of the general programme for reform of the administrative system in preparation for the eventual abolition of extraterritoriality in Manchoukuo, the Department of Civil Affairs of the Manchoukuo Government is making preparations to bring the 25 open markets in Manchuria and seven in Inner Mongolia under uniform regulations.

It is believed that when the preparations are completed, negotiations will be opened with the Powers concerned to unify these open markets which are in commercial settlements established for the benefit of foreigners conducting business in this country.

Two Kinds Extant.

The open markets in Manchuria are divided into two general classes. One consists of those created voluntarily by the Chinese Government, and the other by virtue of treaties between China and foreign powers.

The provisions of the treaties concerning the latter differ slightly in each case. In the case of Japan alone there are three different treaties. They are the one signed immediately after the conclusion of the Sino-Japanese War, another signed after the Russo-Japanese War, and the Chientao Agreement of 1903.

The first open market in Manchuria was opened at Newchung under the provisions of the Anglo-Chinese Treaty of 1858. In 1903 the United States concluded a treaty with China whereby markets were established at Anlung, Mukden and Tatungku.

The seven open markets in Inner Mongolia were created through agreements between China and Czarist Russia.—Rengo.

SHANGHAI STOCK MARKET

Some Market Comments

February 7, 1934.

The Shanghai Stock Market experienced a certain amount of profit-taking last Tuesday which was unexpected in view of the rise of raw rubber in London and New York. The attitude of traders could be explained only by a telegram received from the Hague referring to difficulties encountered with regard to restriction. Next day's section was marked by dullness, trading being confined to professional bidding, and by continued decline in the rubber section. A somewhat better tone was noticeable on Thursday, but the amount of business done remained restricted, being confined to only a few issues. Prices were mostly unchanged on Friday, with a few exceptions. Intasos were fairly active, 2,000 shares being done at 6.35 February. Prices of Union Insurance shares covered a wide range, closing finally at H.K. $580. International Investment Trust was done at 13.40 for cash. In the debenture market, the greatest interest was shown for Shanghai Power 5 1/2 per cent, of which 100.25 was placed. Prominent among the stocks in which some transactions were recorded was Chinese Engineering and Mining which improved to 20.25 February and 1,000 Explorations which were placed at 4.80 February. The market seemed to be more alive on Monday, particularly the rubber section, which became very firm, following an advance in the price of raw material of one-eighth of a cent spot and three-sixteenths of a cent forward in Singapore. Much interest was shown for Shanghai Lands, business totalling 1,100 shares and the market closed with buyers at 28 and sellers at 28.25 February.

The Chinese Government Bond Market experienced irregular fluctuations during the week ending February 3. Opened with brisk trading on Tuesday, which followed Monday's adjournment for January settlement, the market declined rapidly in the volume of daily transactions on the subsequent days and closed the week with unusual activity. Unless political events will call forth unexpected changes, the market probably will manifest steadiness in the near future.

WARNING TO SHIPPING

Dismasted Wooden Sloop
Dangerous To Navigation

The Harbour Master has issued a warning to shipping, to the effect that the Master of the s.s. President Jefferson reported having sighted a dismasted wooden sloop, while he was on his voyage to this port.

The position of the derelict, which is considered to be a danger to navigation as well as to ships on regular track between Hong Kong and Manila, is given as Lat. 18 deg. 05 min. North and Long. 117 deg. 43 min. East.
